

UpLyft Press Release for Crowdfunding

UpLyft is a company that has created a revolutionary device that is going to transform health care and improve lives.

Patient transfer, which involves the lifting of an individual from a bed into a wheelchair, and the reverse, is a problematic area in health care because it is difficult and the existing assistive technology is inadequate or not versatile enough.

The result of this is that caregivers sustain back injuries from the lifting, and patients sometimes suffer injuries as well. In a home setting where a relative is caring for a loved one, this makes an already-difficult task even more difficult. In a professional facility, this leads to staffing crises as injured workers miss work or change careers, and it drives costs up because of the number of workers' compensation claims.

Enter UpLyft. To solve this problem, UpLyft has designed a fully mechanized self-transfer device. Using mechanical arms and a hydraulic lift, it is capable of smoothly, gently, and safely lifting a patient from lying flat in bed and placing the patient in a seated and upright position in a wheelchair (and it transfers the patient back as well). Presently, there is no other device that does this, and it is faster and more versatile than products that are even somewhat comparable.

Another wonderful benefit from UpLyft is increased mobility for some individuals. Because UpLyft is self-operable, disabled individuals who have the use of their arms will enjoy a level of independence they did not before. UpLyft is also compatible with use in both homes and formal health-care facilities.

UpLyft aims to begin production during the third quarter of 2020. Right now, UpLyft is launching a crowdfunding campaign that has a goal of generating slightly over $1,000,000. For anyone looking to invest in a product that has excellent financial projections, stellar growth potential, and industry-transforming promise all while improving the lives of disabled individuals and their caregivers, UpLyft presents an exciting and rare opportunity.
