

Landscaping Maintenance

Well-planned and well-maintained landscaping has immediate, tangible, and long-lasting benefits:

- Usable outdoor space-- An orderly, well-kept yard makes it easier and more enjoyable to relax, recreate, and entertain. It can also help prevent the establishment or spread of plants that may produce allergens.
- Personal satisfaction-- Don't discount the value of looking at your yard and loving what you see. It will make you happier and more confident about your property, and you'll better enjoy your time spent there.
- Protection from property damage-- Landscaping done with proper drainage in mind keeps areas of standing water from appearing; those areas attract mosquitoes and, when close to the foundation, can contribute to damage to it. Improperly pruned trees can lead to excess debris clogging gutters and downspouts, and to roof damage. Trees planted too close to the foundation can result in roots growing into it and cracking it.
- Saved Time and Money-- Everyone's heard that prevention is easier than cure. Structural damage can cost thousands of dollars to repair. An emphasis on maintenance over restoration can save a lot of money and effort.
- Better Neighbors-- A well-managed yard means better relations with neighbors in at least two ways. First, if your yard is not an eyesore, neighbors won't fret about it hurting their resale values, which avoids ugly and costly personal and HOA disputes. Second, your beautiful lawn is an incentive to neighbors to keep theirs nice as well so their home values don't decline.
- Higher Resale Values-- Never underestimate the power of curb appeal. On average, good landscaping adds nearly 6-13% to a home's value depending on size, location, and other market factors. Even at the lower end, this usually more than pays off what you put into it. A colorful, well-planned, and well-maintained lawn and garden make an instant positive first impression on a prospective buyer. In fact, a sloppy-looking exterior may turn people away no matter how stylish and state-of-the-art you've made the interior. No one wants to have a mess on their hands after moving in.

At Sharp Lawn Care, we offer Sioux City residents landscaping maintenance among our many other services. Because every property is different, there is an hourly charge instead of a set one, and we tailor the service to your individual needs. This includes how frequently you want it performed.

When we come out for landscape maintenance, we perform the following services:

- Selective pruning of trees and shrubs to keep things neat and healthy and to protect your home from damage.
- Pulling weeds to beautify the property.

- Replacing mulch and rocks that have been displaced from their beds so that the property looks nicer, growth is better, and weeds are more under control.
- Picking up garbage we find around the property. Even if you're careful not to leave trash out, it sometimes finds its way over because of storms, carelessness on construction sites, and other factors.
- Making recommendations regarding any missing, damaged, diseased, or dying plants we identify.
